"A driving, expansive singalong, it occupies the happy middle ground between younger alt-rock and 'grownup' blue collar songsmithery. Nice."

Classic Rock – Track of the Week

Brighton-based Alt Rock band Vellocet are releasing their debut single and video, 'Better Days', on the 16th of September. Vellocet, who formed just over a year ago are already achieving coverage in Classic Rock's 'Track of the Week', a number of exclusives from Music News, Fame Magazine, Spill Magazine and more, as well as BBC Introducing spots and Amazing Radio plays for their single 'Better Days'.

The band has a powerful and unique sound with a diverse collection of influences that really shine through, including the mature dynamic punk rock of Frank Turner. 'Better Days' was recorded at Metway Studios (Nick Cave, Levellers) with producer, Ian Sadler. The video for the track was directed by Sam Shaw (Raya Rose, Josh Mac) and sees the band perform in St. Michael's church in Brighton, a local landmark which dates back to Victorian times. Since forming, Vellocet have also gained support from Melita Dennett over at BBC Introducing South and airplay on Southwaves Radio, an acoustic live session and interview on Phoenix FM not to mention their track being selected to air on British Airways Radio flights.

'Better Days' is an upbeat and anthemic slice of pop-rock, which kicks off in a brash and bouncy fashion with Jordan Bremble's catchy, uplifting guitar riff and Dan Holt's energetic drum work. Lead singer Neil McMillan has a soulful throaty growl which is a perfect fit with his gruffly sentimental and nostalgic lyrics which evoke the yearning romantic spirit of The Gaslight Anthem as they weave a tale of loves lost and couples grown apart with lines like 'Streets aren't what they used to be/they've got cracks in the memories/I guess it's time to be moving on.'

Having only just formed over a year ago, Vellocet have already received armfuls of accolades and achievements to stand beside them. Vellocet seem relentless in their climb as they continue their rise in the UK music scene and beyond. We can't wait to see where this group will land in a year from now, certainly positioning themselves as one to watch for the future.
